8.1 DEVELOPMENT WAIVERS.

Defined: As used in connection with the provisions dealing with land development, a waiver is a modification of the terms of the land development regulation where such waiver will not be contrary to the public interest and where, owing to the conditions peculiar to the property and not the result of the actions of the applicant, a literal enforcement of the regulation would not be necessary or where such waiver will allow for the construction of improvements in conformity with the intent of the land development regulations and consistent with the comprehensive plan, while providing improved design standards.

Example: A waiver may be requested to eliminate ten percent (10%) of the required parking, vary distances of access driveways from intersecting streets, reduce sidewalks, etc.

The Planning Board, or the Development Review Committee (DRC), with concurrence of the appropriate City department, has the ability to make decisions for new construction waiver requests of fifteen percent (15%) or less as part of the preliminary site plan review as a non-public hearing item. A public hearing is required before the Planning Board for new construction waivers greater than fifteen percent (15%) [Refer to LDC Article III, Section 3.4.12.], unless the specific code section involved vests a greater level of waiver authority with staff. The City prepares the notice to the newspaper. The applicant prepares the notice to surrounding property owners (within 300 feet) and posts notice on the subject property. Refer to the Variance/Waiver Table later in this section.

All development waivers should be identified and discussed at the pre-application meeting. A waiver application must be filled out and submitted with the preliminary site plan application. All waivers must be identified and noted on the preliminary and final site plans.

DRC will review the merits of the development waiver during the review cycle for the preliminary site plan. At the DRC meeting for the preliminary site plan with the customer, the DRC will provide preliminary comments on the waiver request.

If the waiver request is not identified and disclosed prior to the presentation of the preliminary site plan to the Planning Board, a separate public hearing before the Planning Board will be required. The separate public hearing requirement will add time and costs to the standard project approval process.
[Refer to LDC Article III, Section 3.4.4.1 and 3.4.12.]

8.2 VARIANCES.

Defined: As used in connection with the provisions dealing with zoning, a variance is a modification of the terms of the zoning ordinance where such variances will not be contrary to the public interest and where, owing to conditions peculiar to the property and not the result of the actions of the applicant, a literal enforcement of the ordinance would result in unnecessary and undue hardship. As used in the Land Development Code, zoning variances are authorized only for height, lot size and minimum dwelling setbacks, buffer yards, parking reduction of more than fifteen percent (15%), walls, fences, signs and residential lot coverage. Establishment or expansion of a use otherwise prohibited shall not be allowed by variance, nor shall a variance be granted because of the presence of non-conformities in the zoning district or classification or adjoining zoning districts or classifications.

Example: Reduction of a landscape buffer yard or a building setback requirement.

The Planning Board, or the Development Review Committee (DRC) with the concurrence of the Growth Management Director, has the ability to make decisions for new construction variance requests of fifteen percent (15%) or less as part of the preliminary site plan review as a non-public hearing item. A public hearing is required before the Planning Board for new construction variances greater than fifteen percent (15%). The City prepares the notice to the newspaper. The applicant prepares the notice to surrounding property owners (within 300 feet) and posts notice on the subject property. Refer to the Variance/Waiver Table that follow later in this section.

All variances should be identified and discussed at the pre-application meeting. A variance application must be filled out and submitted with the preliminary site plan application. All variances must be identified and noted on the preliminary and final site plans.

The DRC will review the merits of the variance during the review cycle for preliminary site plan review. At the development review meeting for the preliminary site plan with the customer, DRC members will provide preliminary comments on the variance request.

If the variance request is not identified and disclosed prior to the presentation of the preliminary site plan to the Planning Board, a separate public hearing before the Planning Board will be required. The separate public hearing requirement will add time and cost to the standard project approval process.
